About

Designed for sites with a pronounced primary viewing direction, this home lends itself equally to both lakefront or hillside properties.

The heart of the home is the great room which extends out onto a covered outdoor terrace; fireplaces at opposite ends bookend this expansive indoor/outdoor living area. A double height clerestory stretches the length of the great room, bringing in natural light from several directions. Exposed post and beam structure is reserved for the main level spaces, bringing the warmth of wood into this bright open home.
